TWO MASSACHUSETTS EDUCATORS NOMINATED FOR NATIONAL HISTORY DAY® TEACHER OF THE YEAR

April 11, 2022, College Park, MD—Two teachers from Massachusetts have been nominated for the Patricia Behring Teacher of the Year award. Mr. Jason Levy, a teacher at Ottoson Middle School in Arlington, Massachusetts has been nominated in the junior division of the National History Day (NHD) National Contest. Ms. Kristine Forsgard, a teacher at Montrose School in Medfield, Massachusetts has been nominated in the senior division of the National History Day (NHD) National Contest. The award is sponsored by Patricia Behring in recognition of the pivotal role teachers play in the lives of students.

Each of the 58 National History Day affiliates may nominate one high school and one middle school teacher for this award, and Mr. Levy and Ms. Forsgard are this year's nominees from Massachusetts. Every nominee for the $10,000 award is a teacher who demonstrates a commitment to engaging students in historical learning through the innovative use of primary sources, implementation of active learning strategies to foster historical thinking skills, and participation in the National History Day Contest. All nominees will receive $500 as a result of their nominations.

"This award recognizes the very best educators from across the nation and beyond," said National History Day Executive Director Dr. Cathy Gorn. "These educators are leaders and innovators in the teaching of history, and we are all the more impressed because of the extended difficult teaching circumstances due to the pandemic during the last year. I wish to congratulate both Mr. Levy and Ms. Forsgard on their well-deserved nominations."

The national winner will be selected by a committee of experienced teachers and historians, and announced on Saturday, June 18, 2022, at the National History Day National Contest Awards Ceremony to be held virtually due to COVID-19. Nominees' work must clearly illustrate the development and use of creative teaching methods that engage students in history, and help them make exciting discoveries about the past.

engages more than half a million students every year in conducting original research on historical topics of interest. Students present their research as a documentary, exhibit, paper, performance, or website. Projects compete first at the local and affiliate levels, where the top entries are invited to the National Contest at the University of Maryland at College Park. NHD is sponsored in part by, HISTORY®, the National Endowment for the Humanities, the National Park Service, Southwest Airlines, the Crown Family Foundation, The Better Angels Society, the Pritzker Military Museum & Library and the Diana Davis Spencer Foundation. About National History Day in Massachusetts

Sponsored by the Massachusetts Historical Society, National History Day (NHD) in Massachusetts is a year-long interdisciplinary program focused on historical research, interpretation, and creative expression for students in grades 6-12. A student-led project by design, NHD asks students to conduct primary- and secondary-source research on a historical topic of their choosing and present their work through a documentary film, website, performance, paper, or exhibit. Students can compete at local, regional, state, and national levels with the opportunity to win prizes and recognition for themselves and their school. Each year, nearly 6,000 students participate across the Commonwealth. To learn more about how to get involved, please visit:
